ERRORS IN C PROGRAM

C PROGRAM ???

It is a set of instructions written in C to perform a task. It starts from the main() function and is compiled before execution.

ERRORS ???

It is a mistake in a program that causes it to produce wrong results or stop working. Errors can occur during compilation or while the program is running.

TYPES OF ERRORS

- Logical Errors
- Run Time Errors
- Syntax Error
- Semantic Error

GROUP MEMBERS

- VRUKSHITA VINOD
- SIDDHI JHA
- PALAK SONI
- TANISH FIRODIYA
- PRACHITI SURYAWANSHI

TYPES OF ERRORS IN C

SYNTAX ERRORS

Violations of C language rules.

Examples: Missing semicolons, incorrect brackets, {}, misspelled keywords.

Program will NOT compile!

SEMANTIC ERRORS

Code is grammatically correct but illogical.

Wrong data types, undeclared variables, invalid operations.

Program may compile with warnings.

RUNTIME ERRORS

Errors during program execution.

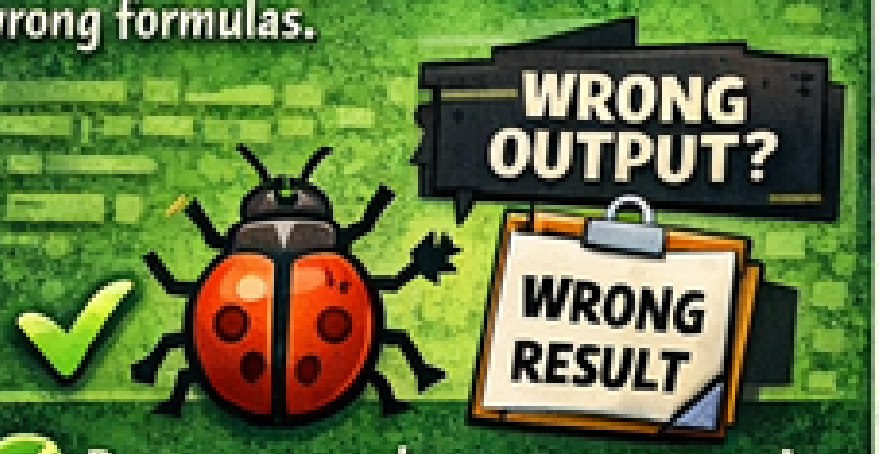
Examples: Division by zero, invalid memory access.

Program may crash!

LOGICAL ERRORS

Flaws in the program's logic.

Incorrect results, faulty conditions, wrong formulas.



Program runs but wrong output!

~ CODE SMARTLY - DEBUG SMARTLY ~